Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-9, 12-18 and 20- 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Simone (4,332,927).

Simone discloses preparations of polyurethane compositions for sealing and other applications which may be formed into the configuration of a foam(see abstract, column line 37-63 & column 11 line 42, as well as, the entire document).

Simone differs from applicants' claims in that it does not particularly specify that its R₁ & R₂ and R₃ & R₄ groups be methyl and 14-20 carbon unsaturated group containing chains, respectively. However, Simone does provide for operation within its disclosed selections of compounds for the purpose of providing acceptable catalytic function. Accordingly, it would have been obvious for one having ordinary skill in the art to have operated within the selections of catalysts provided for by the teachings of Simone et al. for the purpose of imparting their known reaction catalyzing effect in order to arrive at the products and processes of applicants' claims with the expectation of success in the absence of a showing of new or unexpected results. Further, as to selection of the chain length numbers for the respective R groups, it has long been held that where the general conditions of the claims are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimal or workable ranges involves only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233; In re Reese 129 USPQ 402 . Similarly, it has been held that discovering the optimum value of a result effective variable involves only routine skill in the art. In re Boesch, 617 F.2d 272,205 USPQ 215 (CCPA 1980).

As to applicants' statements in their claims as to the use of their formed articles (claims 20-21), it is not seen that these recitations distinguish the formed articles over the formed articles from the sealing and potting resins of Simone. Further, it is seen that the articles formed by the teachings of Simone serve the function as defined by applicant's claim.

Applicants' arguments have been considered. However, rejection is maintained. Applicants' claims do not require distinguishing properties alluded to in their reply. Further, it is not seen that the evidence of record demonstrate a showing of new or unexpected results that is commensurate in scope with the scope of the claims as they stand. The following is held and needs to be considered in reviewing evidence of new or unexpected results:

Results Must be Unexpected:

Unexpected properties must be more significant than expected properties to rebut a prima facie case of obviousness. In re Nolan 193 USPQ 641 CCPA 1977.

Obviousness does not require absolute predictability. In re Miegel 159 USPQ 716.

Since unexpected results are by definition unpredictable, evidence presented in comparative showings must be clear and convincing. In re Lohr 137 USPQ 548.

In determining patentability, the weight of the actual evidence of unobviousness presented must be balanced against the weight of obviousness of record. In re Chupp, 2 USPQ 2d 1437; In re Murch 175 USPQ 89; In re Beattie, 24 USPQ 2d 1040.

Claims Must be Commensurate With Showings:

Evidence of superiority must pertain to the full extent of the subject matter being claimed. In re Ackerman, 170 USPQ 340; In re Chupp, 2 USPQ 2d 1437; In re Murch 175 USPQ 89; Ex Parte A, 17 USPQ 2d 1719; accordingly, it has been held that to overcome a reasonable case of prima facie obviousness a given claim must be commensurate in scope with any showing of unexpected results. In re Greenfield, 197 USPQ 227. Further, a limited showing of criticality is insufficient to support a broadly claimed range. In re Lemin, 161 USPQ 288. See also In re Kulling, 14 USPQ 2d 1056.

Applicants' have not persuasively demonstrated unexpected results for the combinations of their claims. Applicants have not sufficiently demonstrated their results to be unexpected and more than mere optimizations of the knowledge in the art or more significant than being secondary in nature. Applicants' have not demonstrated their showing to be commensurate in scope with the scope of combinations now claimed.

The limited results provided for by applicants lack a clear demonstration of new or unexpected results for the range of materials encompassed by the scope of their claims. The results discussed on reply, including those of the declaration, are limited in their representation of the scope of materials encompassed by the claims.

It is not seen that the relative language of the claims, "low fogging characteristics", is sufficient in distinguishing the claims over what is taught or fairly suggested by the teachings of the cited prior art. Applicants' arguments, including the accompanying declaration, are insufficient in demonstrating that the invention encompassed by the scope of the claims is not sufficiently taught or fairly suggested by the teachings of the cited Simone patent, and the evidence provided is inadequate in demonstrating a fact based showing of new or unexpected results that are commensurate in scope with the scope of the claims as they currently stand.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of
